

Brooks L. McCorcle

President – Emerging Business Markets
AT&T Business Solutions, AT&T Inc.

Brooks McCorcle, President-Emerging Business Markets, has leadership responsibility for identifying and launching innovative solutions to drive value and growth in AT&T Business Solutions.

Prior to that, Brooks directed AT&T's traditional telephone services business for Home Solutions customers, and she led Investor Relations for AT&T, where she directed financial communications and maintained relationships with institutional investors and analysts around the world. Over her 22 year tenure with AT&T and its predecessor companies, Ms. McCorcle has held positions in Mergers & Acquisitions and Finance, and executive positions in Consumer Marketing, Customer Care and Sales.

In 2012, Brooks was named among the Top 30 Women in Finance by Treasury & Risk Magazine, and she was also named the #1 Investor Relations Professional in the Telecom Industry by Institutional Investor Magazine for 2011.

A native of Texas, Brooks holds an MBA from the Olin Business School at Washington University and a BBA from Southern Methodist University. She holds community leadership positions with the Friends of the Dallas Public Library, the Center for Brain Health at the University of Texas (Dallas), and she leads the Finance Committee at her church. In addition, she actively serves as a coach and mentor for others, including with the Women of AT&T mentoring program, and also as an executive sponsor for the AT&T Women of Finance organization.

Brooks lives in Fairview, Texas with her husband, Mick, and they have three sons, Justin, Graham, and Sam. She enjoys fly fishing, gardening and art collecting.